

VINCE GILL, Say Hello

(Vince Gill, Pete Wasner)

I walk down these lonely strets and try to find you
In all the same old places we use to go
And the old friends that I meet still ask about you
And they tell me if I see you say hello

Say hello to the arms that used to hold me
Hold me close when those chilly winds would blow
Say hello with the lips that used to kiss me
And whisper in my ear I love you so

I remember the night when I first met you
I knew that I could never let you go
Now I can't find a way to forget you
I'd give anything to hear you say hello

Say hello to the arms that used to hold me
Hold me close when those chilly winds would blow
Say hello with the lips that used to kiss me
And whisper in my ear I love you so

I'd give anything to hear you say hello
