

Wanda Jackson, Missing You

Never knew what hurtin' was until today never thought that I could ever feel this way
Missing you missing you and only you what can I do missing you
In my dreams I feel you laying next to me
But the morning sun wakes up the loneliness in me
Missing you missing you and only you what can I do missing you
Was leaving me easy to do was someone somewhere waiting for you
If this is what you wanted to do all I ask is a reason from you
Walkin' the floor tryin' to keep my soul from wanting you
And everywhere I look there's something else to remind me of you
Missing you missing you and only you what can I do missing you mhm
