Widespread Panic, Gradle

I hold the flower there Doesn't know she's beautiful She wakes every morning seeing All the other things are beautiful Well she's free Companion to the wind

Time plays a roller coaster Not afraid to ride itself Never takes adventure lightly Always stops enough to let us on for a ride

A blind New Orleans painter man Doesn't get many straight lines Hurricane tourists poke some fun The angels whisper, "Pay no mind" No mind

We don't have any pocket change We've danced out of all our clothes Want to give everything every minute Give it all before we go

Love waves a flower there
Doesn't know she's beautiful
Spends every morning thinking
All the other things are beautiful
Well she's free
Companion to the wind
And the angels whisper, "Pay no mind"
The angels whisper "Pay no mind"
No mind
The angels whisper "Pay no mind"