Within Y, Reckoning Day

A black sky over my head Watch the sun engulfed and perished A dead mind, a dead kind A dead future to take lead Absolute hatred, a denying wish Reached the limit of what I can take I rest on bleeding knees Demolished and burned The fate of awake, awake I see faces of suffering Portraying dead dreams Decaying I walk aligned To wires sewn into my eyes A failure to the point of no salvation Faces of trauma All bricks have fallen in Narrow paths to lead us astray I see faces of suffering I wreck space to see what comes my way I walk aligned To wires sewn into my eyes I see faces of suffering Portraying dead dreams Decaying I walk aligned To wires sewn into my eyes Wires are sewn to my eyes