Wiz Khalifa, Ready For Love

You say that you're ready for love You say that you're ready for love You say that you're ready for love You say that you're ready for love

Say you want that thing Tired of playing, no, it ain't no game No, I ain't the same Grind for mine, so I can't complain Don't know what they claim I'm the one who get all the change Look at all they face Your time is something that I won't waste Hop in my car, let's skate I'll give you a call, let's date Used to be a college girl Now you grown and on your way I'm just being honest, you're fucking with a baller Let's spend a couple dollars, babe Diamonds on my collar, babe Maybe you should fall through

You say that you really ain't ready for this And you say that I need to know how real it can get And you say that you really wanna spend some time And you say that you really hope you could be mine And you say

Now you're ready Anything that you want, you can get it Got your own, so you never gotta settle Want the boss, not the man in the middle Not a little, it's kind of simple See, I ain't local, I'm intercontinental I'll send a Rolls-Royce your way to come and get you I'm with my homeboys, we done sold out the venue What's your favorite restaurant that you been to? Order anything you want off the menu I got room in the back, bring your friend too You on me, me on her, what you into? All the time, say I'm on your mental You keep telling me 'bout what you went through Don't gotta worry 'bout me, I'm not the issue I'll take care of your heart, I'll be gentle

You say that you really ain't ready for this And you say that I need to know how real it can get And you say that you really wanna spend some time And you say that you really hope you could be mine And you say

You say that you're ready for love You say that you're ready for love
