Wizard, End Of All

Odin knew the truth but led them all to doom Einheriers and gods trust in his words

Follow me to victory let us slay them all! in his eye one lonely tear shows his mortal fear

Refrain:

The gods are dying, the world is crying in this final war
The gods are dying, the world is crying this is the end the end of it all

With a smile on their face they march into the blaze together for their holy land they ride out to defend

Thousand wounds are bleeding the gods are going to die facing their eternity under the northern skies